

Student Project Disclaimer: Use of Existing Intellectual Property

This project contains elements inspired by existing intellectual properties (IPs), including but not limited to the "Aliens" franchise. These elements have been incorporated into the project for educational and non-commercial purposes only.

We acknowledge that the rights to these existing IPs belong to their respective creators, owners, and/or license holders. This project is not intended for commercial use or distribution, and no profit is being generated from its creation or presentation.

Any references, characters, settings, or other elements from existing IPs are used respectfully and in compliance with fair use guidelines and educational principles. This project does not seek to infringe upon any copyrights, trademarks, or other legal rights associated with the referenced IPs.

Credit to Owners of Intellectual Properties:

20th Century Studios - Owners of the "Aliens" franchise, including characters such as Ellen Ripley, Dwayne Hicks, and the Xenomorphs.

The Walt Disney Company - Current parent company of 20th Century Studios.

James Cameron - Director and co-writer of "Aliens".

The creators of this project affirm that it is a work of academic or educational merit, created for the purpose of learning, skill development, and creative expression within the confines of applicable laws and regulations.